

Career Pilot Training Canada

Canadian Flight Schools Join Forces to offer the best of Canadian flight training to Indians

In an unprecedented move, 17 Canadian flight schools are cooperating to offer the best of Canadian flight training to Indians wanting to become commercial pilots. All 17 schools are members of the Air Transport Association of Canada (ATAC). The Government of Canada Foreign Affairs Department is providing generous support to the mission.

Travelling under the ATAC umbrella 12 of the 17 schools are traveling to India this March, where we will visit Delhi and Hyderabad. The group is privileged to have advice and guidance from Mr. Dru Narwani, international banker and an aviation enthusiast who has flown his own plane across India.

The group looks forward to meeting with Indian airlines and other key aviation business representatives to get first hand information on the kind of qualifications and training Indian employers are looking for in today's market. They are cordially invited to attend a reception at the Canadian High Commission in Delhi on the evening of March 2nd.

Airline and other aviation business representatives are also cordially invited to a second reception in Hyderabad. In Hyderabad, the group will attend the Aviation Expo 2010 show, and will be giving a special presentation to aviation business at the Kakatiya Hotel. This presentation will take place on Canada Night, Thursday March 4th.

The group of schools will also be offering several free information seminars for prospective commercial pilot students about training in Canada. Prospective students can register in advance for these information seminars in Delhi (March 2nd) and in Hyderabad (March 5th) by going to www.atac.ca and clicking on the Indian flag.

Last year Canada celebrated 100 years of powered flight. Canada provides the highest of flight training safety records, an extensive flight training infrastructure and the variety of weather that builds invaluable pilot experience. It also provides a life experience that's second to none. Multicultural cities and a vast geography highlight the long list of benefits students find in Canada.

Starting from ab initio all the way up to multi crew and jet transition students can get it all in Canada. Location choices for our cost effective training range across the country. From our west coast, home this year to the Winter Olympics, throughout our prairie provinces, into the heart of central Canada and out to the east coast, it's all waiting for international students.
